5.Other Business:

The Board of Selectmen will hold a Public Hearing on December 22, 2014, preceding the Selectmen's Meeting, in regard to a renewal of an automobile graveyard/junkyard permit for A & J Enterprises, Inc. (owner Leroy Firth) at 90 Lion's Lane.

Jolie Hatch of the Recreation Department again stressed the problem of getting parent volunteers to participate in the Cushing Recreation Department. She will be meeting with the Thomaston Recreation Director to find out what the fee would be to have Cushing participate in the Thomaston Recreation Department. It was noted that this has always been a problem when children move on to school sponsored sports the parents move on with them. What is suppose to happen is those parents with younger children step up and help but this has not been happening.

6. Unfinished Business:

Selectman Martha Marchut reminded the Board that the Waldoboro Select Board will be meeting Tuesday night at 6:00pm if any of the Selectmen can go due to the ongoing transfer station trash hauler issue. She noted that she saw a letter that the Waldoboro Select Board had written describing the situation as a personality issue, but she stressed that it is far beyond a personality issue. If no one can attend this week she felt that it would be fine to wait until their next meeting in two weeks. She noted that Selectman Daniel Staples will be delivering the letter that the Board approved sending last meeting.

7. New Business: No new business.

8.Comments from Citizens: No comments.

9. Adjournment:
